CHICAGO

AUSTIN HIGH IN HISTORIC 1944-1945

IT IS probably true that most of the high school graduates in the country can hardly in later years recall what were the newspaper headlines when they were students in school.

This will not be the case with the graduates of 1945. Indelibly impressed on their minds and associated with their senior year will be the big news-lines of this eventful time . . . World War II carried forward to Victory . . . The death of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt . . . The San Francisco World Security Conference . . .

And hardly a graduate who will not have been touched in the most personal, intimate way by the stark tragedy of war . . . through loss of brother or friend or through return of someone sick or badly wounded.

And yet it has been the task of all of us at Austin High this year to carry on in as nearly normal ways as possible. So this year, too, has been a happy and active year at school and will be looked back upon for friendships and activities and work well done.

To record this year at Austin High is the main purpose of this Annual.

AS YOU LEAVE AUSTIN

Greetings and salutations to the graduating members of the class of June 1945, as well as to those who left us in January.

You young people have just finished an exciting four years, almost the entire time of which your country has been at war. You have been called upon to obtain your formal high school education during this strenuous period and yet at the same time give service to your country and the community as no other young people have ever done before. The record of your four years will show that your efforts and those of your classmates who have already gone into the armed forces have helped to bring your beloved country to at least the half-way point on the road to total Victory. Congratulations on a tough job well done.

As I wish you God-speed and best wishes as you leave us for the four corners of the earth, may I hope that you will treasure those ideals of service, tolerance, and the desire for perfection that we have tried to give you here at the Austin High School.

PRINCIPAL

HOBART H. SOMMERS

Austin's greying—but handsome—principal, Hobart H. Sommers, is one of those rare persons gifted with uncanny insight plus a magnetic personality and charm.

Since he first came to Austin in 1940, the years have piled upon each other, but these have been war years, and, more than any other person in Austin, Mr. Sommers has felt the stress of them.

It has been his prime task to win every entering freshman over to the belief that education should be something desired and cherished rather than viewed with dislike.

A good 65 per cent of Austinites in the past year have worked in various jobs outside of school and naturally this work has had a pronounced effect on their performances at school. Perhaps they tire faster by combining the two or their thoughts stray from studies to the job they hold; but whatever it is, Mr. Sommers has faced the task of keeping the student body on "the beam" and has come through with an admirable record.

Mr. Sommers' desire for near perfection is frequently disturbing to some, for we all know of the careful supervision given to every assembly held at Austin.

As down the hall we dash,
We see a spiffy mustache,
Followed by a broad smile.
For he's never cross,
He's our happy boss,
He's someone that's hard to rile.

It is his constant desire to put this school in the forefront of all in the city—scholastically as well as athletically—and in this goal, all will agree that Principal Hobart H. Sommers has created an enviable record.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

HARRY D. HUMISTON

Mr. Harry Humiston, assistant principal, besides being responsible for the origination of pupil programs from one semester to another, is the chief trouble shooter of the school and as a court of appeal, he deals with parents, students, teachers, chairmen, attendance counselors and the registrar. The statistical data of the school is another one of his responsibilities and in his reports to the Superintendent's Office, he charts the trends in enrollment and subject demands. He is responsible also for assembly seating.

Mr. Humiston has served in his present capacity in the regime of two principals; first Mr. Wright and now Mr. Sommers. In the interval before the coming of Mr. Sommers, Mr. Humiston was acting principal. Earlier he was Dean of Boys and Math teacher.

A quiet, unassuming man, he is rarely in the forefront of school activities, although his personal appearances at assemblies are very rare. Nonetheless his service to the school and the students has placed him high in the eyes of his admirers and friends. We're proud and thankful to have him!

He plans programs for all,
Lives in spring while it's fall,
A senior member of the ping pong crew.
He's the second in line,
At 231 North Pine,
And he's ever ready to serve you.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

GEORGE H. BRUSH

Mr. George Brush, since 1930 assistant principal in charge of the East Building, is confronted with much the same task in the East Building as his colleague, Mr. Humiston, is in the West.

He came to Austin High in 1916 and has been assistant principal for 29 years, first at the Orr Branch from 1920 to 1930 and in the East Building since then.

Like Mr. Humiston, Mr. Brush is also quietly prominent, and his guiding hand is responsible for many of the social activities—including assemblies—that are held in the East Building.

He has the best posture of the school,
And is quiet as a rule,
Except when the teachers get together.
In the East Building he's chief,
He's as sprightly as a leaf,
There's no one who can do his job better.

COORDINATOR

EDWARD R. LEACH

He collects waste paper,
His bond sales don't taper,
He arranged the prom at the Edgewater Beach.
Of the Commercial Department he's head,
He sure earns his bread,
He's War Co-ordinator Mr. Leach.

REGISTRAR

EDNA CLARK

She has a great big vault,
And nary a fault,
She gets diplomas for servicemen.
She keeps credit records for the school,
And believe me, she's nobody's fool,
You can find her in the registrar's den.

ATTENDANCE

HAROLD COLLINS

At 7:59 A.M. he goes through the door
And greets the students, one hundred or more,
To his eight o'clock class.
He is as strict as fate,
And no one comes in late,
Not even a cute blondie lass.

DEAN OF GIRLS

MARION M. STONE

She has a quiet, solemn tone,
She's the head chaperon,
She's the girls' adviser and their dean.
She teaches English too,
There's nothing she can't do.
And you certainly can't call her mean.

EMPLOYMENT

HAROLD C. RITTER

"Mr. Ritter, I want a job,"
So say Mary or Bob,
When they walk into 102 West.
"Just three hours a day,
But with very good pay,"
Is his reply to them and the rest.

RAYMOND LUSSENHOP

He's a blonde haired guy,
With a gleam in his eye,
And he knows every "5-major" excuse.
He hears scholarship news,
From colleges and "U's"
And his bulletins are put to good use.

ATTENDANCE
FRANK R. HEITMAN

Sitting behind a desk of oak,
Ready to crack a corny joke,
Is the Mr. Collins of the East.
He's a big fellow 'tis true,
And he can really scare you,
But he's a "right guy" to say the least.

ADJUSTMENT
RICHARD C. McVEY

In his cubby hole office,
He's ready to scoff us,
The Winfield gentleman farmer.
You know him as "Mac"
With his tests by the pack,
And also as the grade school charmer.

ADJUSTMENT
WILLIAM EATON

He wears bright spring ties,
And has light blue eyes,
And he eats 3-1 when he can.
He has big, broad shoulders,
And millions of folders,
He's the juniors' adjustment man.

Our English classes at times this year brought us the realization of how wonderful a thing is the spoken and written word, and at times the sad realization of how far we fall short of any sort of mastery of our mother tongue either in speaking or in writing, yes, even in understanding.

We have been the beneficiaries this year in increased measure of the Chicago Developmental Reading Program whereby not only our English teachers, but all of our other teachers as well, have systematically given us aid in increasing our reading and understanding abilities and skills, and in improving our habits and interests.

We have been introduced to some of the great classics of our language, many passages in which took on larger meanings in the light of war-time situations. We also read much material dealing directly with the war.

For many of us the reading of Time, News-Week, Readers' Digest, Coronet and other quality magazines will be a life-time interest thanks to the requirements of our high school days.

This was the year in which our principal, Mr. Sommers, personally furthered the progressive plan of having every English classroom converted into a library-equipped reading laboratory where the student is encouraged above all else to read and read, and where he will find materials of all kinds available to entice him into pleasurable and profitable reading.

Period, comma, semi-colon, dash,
Gerund, subjunctive—all sound like hash;
If English I cannot learn to speak,
I might have more success in Greek.

In no department has the impact of the war upon the curriculum contents and methods been felt more strongly than in Mathematics.

In response to the requests of the War and Navy Departments and of the Air Forces, mathematics requirements for all boys in high school have been made more stringent, and in the courses there has been a tendency to emphasize arithmetical computation and simple military applications. Among other things, there has been stress upon decimals, common fractions, graphs, scale drawings, maps, projectiles, elementary surveying, mariner's compass, great circle, rhumb line, mil and radian, spherical trigonometry, square root, aviation problems, and war savings problems.

What would we do without dear math?
It has no charms like music hath.

Shop classes this year again successfully overcame the serious handicap of scarcity of critical raw materials and tools. The foundry has reduced the number of brass and aluminum castings made, but has poured more iron. The cast iron was largely scrap iron derived from several obsolete machines which were broken up. Copper wire is impossible to get, and so the advanced electric shop class did not wind any electric motors, but Mr. Statler through many hours of diligent shopping after school hours managed to purchase materials for thirty radio sets.

The Electric Shop-2 boys are very proud of their new 5-tube super-heterodyne receivers.

The Electric Shop-1 boys were able to build transformers as before due to our large reserve stock of magnet wire of this size and electric sheet steel cords.

The wood shop classes this year have built 200 leather working kits for the Red Cross to be delivered to Vaughan General Hospital to be used by convalescent service men.

We also completed 200 Chinese checker games as our share of a very large Red Cross program of building recreational material for service hospitals sponsored by the Board of Education.

Our industrial arts classes have made several hundred ash trays, small games, etc., which were donated to service centers and hospitals.

The plans for enlarging and remodeling our Technical department are proceeding. We will in the near future have a new machine shop in the West building and our present machine shops remodeled. There will be a rebuilt woodshop in the East building with a new mill room. Complete gas and electric welding equipment will be added to the forge shops. The Mechanical Drawing department has added a new photostatic copy machine and will soon have new blue printing equipment.

While the war has brought no fundamental changes either in methods of teaching or in subject content of Biology, Physics, or Chemistry, the national emergency has placed emphasis on wider distribution of scientific knowledge and on raising the standard of attainment in the schools.

This war is one of science as well as combat forces. Consequently, General Science and Biology classes not only dealt with such topics as blood plasma and poison gases, but also emphasized good health as a patriotic duty to relieve the shortage of doctors and of labor and to prevent the wasting of time and labor. Stress was put on regular habits of eating, rest, and exercise.

Scientific aspects of transportation and communication were stressed. Studies were made of how, when, and what to plant in Victory gardens.

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The war and the efforts which are now being made to avoid future wars, have focused our major attention upon world problems and problems of foreign policy. All social science classes, therefore, incorporate the consideration of current events and current problems as an integral part of our curriculum. Regular reading of newspapers and listening to radio news commentators has increasingly become a part of our school work.

The department has regularly provided war maps on first floor bulletin boards for the benefit of all students. Individual students have also participated in various radio and essay contests with credit to their school.

Foods classes have been working even harder to equip themselves to cope with war time food problems and conservation. Our particular interest has been to become nutrition wise; to keep ourselves fit and strong for the days of responsibility now and ahead. Canning fruits and vegetables, making jams and jellies in our food preservation unit has been of special value. Many of the vegetables were from victory gardens.

Clothing class members have learned to contribute to the wartime economy by making many of their own suits, coats, dresses, formals, skirts and blouses. Emphasis has been placed on minimum yardage and making only what is needed. Conservation of clothing by mending, remodeling or remaking, salvaged many an otherwise worthless garment. These "made overs" have been worn with pride and satisfaction in doing one's bit to live up to the Consumer's Pledge: "Make it do."

During the past year, one hundred and eighty girls in the Home Management classes received certificates from the Red Cross for completing satisfactorily the Home Nursing Course taught under the supervision of a Red Cross nurse.

While studying interior decorating the classes have completely decorated and furnished a miniature house. The girls had a lot of fun painting the walls, making venetian blinds, ivory soap bath room fixtures, period furniture and draperies.

Two of every five Austin students you may see in the corridors or at a football game are members of foreign language classes.

Perhaps they are interested in learning about the national background from which their forefathers came. Perhaps a desire for international co-operation has brought about an interest in one of the languages and then again perhaps the two year language requirement in many of our High School courses explains why 2500 students were enrolled during the school year.

Six foreign languages are taught at Austin High: French, German, Spanish, Greek, Italian, and Latin.

The War has vitalized the study of these languages, made it more purposeful.

International co-operation is emphasized as is the study of cultural, political, geographical and historical backgrounds.

Included: Reading of foreign language periodicals; use of posters, pictures, moving pictures, maps, etc.

War vocabularies, military terms, geographical names has been prominent in language lessons.

Spanish, Latin, German, Greek—
All these tongues I cannot speak.
Since these all cause me so much anguish,

Of course our alert Business Education department has adjusted its courses to fit every demand of the war time.

Payroll procedures, war bonds, withholding taxes, social security, and unemployment insurance are in the bookkeeping picture.

The Business Education department is prepared to shift its courses from a war to a peace time program.

Rationing and curtailed production will throw a mighty load in the industry of this country. While the war production load seemed great, the peace time needs will be greater.

Our industrial field has expanded to include the world; commercial geography, law, bookkeeping, stenography, will set graduates up to meet this industrial challenge.

ATHLETICS DEPARTMENT

The need for more thorough education in health and physical fitness has again been emphatically demonstrated by the large number of rejections for physical reasons by the selective service examiners. This same lesson was taught by the examinations in World War I but nothing was done about it. This time something is being done to the extent of doubling the time allotted to physical education, and adding a period for health instruction.

While this is a great step forward, much more needs to be done, especially in regard to improved and enlarged facilities and more teachers. This is the project that you of the graduating classes must work for, so that your successors can benefit by it. Today especially, in the large cities, the lack of natural facilities for exercise and recreation makes it even more necessary that the public schools provide the time and place.

The Music department of Austin High School has tried to carry on as usual in spite of the manpower shortage which has been felt in all the organizations having boys. However, the boys at Austin have been very loyal and we have a better response here than in many schools.

The highlights this year were the concerts at Orchestra Hall, the Choir's appearance with the Chicago Symphony under Dr. Defauw's direction on April 3, 19, and 20, and the Girls' Glee Clubs Concert with Robert Weede as soloist on May 14.

The other organizations carried on their regular program of work, performing at assemblies, concerts, contests, Parent-Teacher meetings, and for local churches and clubs.

A new feature was our Music Exhibit which was displayed in the North corridor near the lunch room, and was arranged by Miss Lloyd and Mrs. Leonard.

IN SERVICE HONOR ROLL OF FORMER AUSTIN HIGH STUDENTS

AUSTIN High this June for the third time sends special greetings to all of its former students in the service of our country and to their parents and friends. Continuously through the years it has been sending out its solicitous thoughts and well wishes to those who are actively representing us in the great struggle for Freedom.

Since September, 1942, in the Times and Annual office, room 106W, daily student and adviser time has gone to the activity of collecting and compiling the "In Service Honor Roll" of former students. Through contributions of names and addresses by current students and teachers, by home-folks and neighbors, the card file record has steadily grown until at time of our going to press in May, 1945 it held almost 4,000.

As the months have passed the "Times office" has become more and more a "port of call" for soldiers and sailors on furlough, and from them have come hundreds of additional names of former schoolmates somewhere in the armed forces. They find it pleasant to recall schoolmates and learn from the card file which of their friends are "in" and if possible, where. Hundreds of letters and cards and copies of the Times have gone out to addresses in this card file.

Since last June there has been erected on the corridor wall just outside the staff-room a large memorial plaque, gift of the classes of 1942½ to 1944½, honoring those whose names also appear on the next two pages of this volume as having given the last full measure of devotion in World War II.

So Austin High pays tribute and honor to its known and unknown soldiers.

The guns in Europe are silent now . . . and the blood no longer flows . . . but the crosses of our loved ones . . . stand in stable rows . . . They reach up to the clear blue sky . . . and seem to touch the sun . . . for these boys have made the sacrifice . . . through which the war was won . . . And the unmarked graves beneath the sea . . . are washed and cleansed each day . . . and the soul and spirit of these men . . . never will decay . . . There are no flowers on their graves . . . no one to keep them neat . . . but a guardian watches over them . . . while the bugler sounds retreat . . .

IN MEMORIAM

Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Stilled is that magic voice whose clarion tone
Infused in men new zeal and courage high,
When life was dark, and days were full of fear.
Then hope returned to them who had despaired,
And nourishment to them who long had starved,
And faith to them whom justice had ignored.
Dimmed is that eye whose vision clear and keen
So soon descried the lowering clouds of war
That men of lesser vision failed to see.
At rest that spirit blithe that knew not fear
And gladly bore his cross of grievous weight,
And never faltered, never knew despair.
Quiet that heart whose bounteous charity
Embraced all creeds, all nations, and all ranks,
Loved well all men, and wished all to be free.
Shall we now dare to falter in our task
To build the peace so dear to his great heart,
So dear and vital, too, to all mankind?
Oh, may his spirit from that heavenly bourn
Still lead us on to heights as yet unscaled,
From which high vantage point we may achieve
The land of the Four Freedoms blooming fair.

—W. L. Tiernan

YE OL' STUDY HALL

(With apologies to James Whitcomb Riley)

Oh the ol' study hall! whar the students, still and deep,
Pretended they was studyin' but were layin' half asleep.
The turning of the pages of the ol' English book
Made sich a loud disturbance that the teacher yelled and shook.
Each day a lot of notes'd go 'round; across the room a call,
Till you would never know at all it was a study hall.
Oh! the ol' study hall! In the long, hazy days
When study got so boring and my mind was in a haze,
How pleasant was the journey through the ol' study door
Where I got pushed an' battered an' trampled on the floor.
Them days is still in session. If you think my tale's tall,
Then up yourself an' visit ye old study hall.

THE AUSTIN TIMES

The Times in September made one of its own big news stories by becoming an eight page publication, thus doubling its size of recent years. The increased cost was largely absorbed by the increased volume of advertising.

Another innovation was the replacing of the Tempo type heads by the Bodoni type family. It was a pleasure to the staff when later in the year the new owner of the Chicago Daily News also introduced Bodoni heads, thus showing the Times staff to have used good judgment.

MAROON AND WHITE

Many endless hours of hard work have gone into the production of the 1945 Maroon and White Annual. Often it seemed as though its production would become impossible. Wartime conditions of shortages in man-power and materials made themselves most sharply felt. The rank and file of student subscribers to the book will perhaps never know how difficult is the compilation of such a volume.

The possibility of having an Annual next year in the tradition of the past twenty-five years is gravely in question. Should there be one, the present editors wish their successors endless patience and luck.

City Champions 1944

The 1944 Tiger eleven will go down in the books as one of the best in the school's history. Coach Heiland gave Austin a city championship and its eighth section title in ten seasons.

In their first clash of the season, the Tiger aggregation was the underdog in the annual pre-season game with Lane Tech. Lane had a 30 pound line surplus, but Austin's stalwarts battled the heavier eleven pound for pound to a scoreless tie.

The Tigers' only loss of the season was to their Oak Park rivals, Fenwick, 7-6. Heiland's eleven led for the entire game, but finally a fancy collection of plays by Coach Tony Lawless gave Fenwick a victory.

The West Section title race opened the following week with Austin pitted against Crane. Bob Schneider ran 55 yards for the first Tiger rally. A few minutes later Joe Lapetina dashed 70 yards for another score to give Austin a 13-0 lead. Then a series of Tiger blunders gave Tech the opportunities to tie the game.

Tuley was the Austinite's first victim; 33-0 was the score as Jim "Scooter" Baer dashed for two markers.

Harrison was next to fall before the Tigers. A first period pass to Julie Hirth was margin enough for victory. Harrison scored once on a safety in the last quarter to make the score 6-2.

The third Tiger victory came at the expense of a stubborn Foreman eleven by the score of 19-0. Bill Moore tallied twice. Marshall, the team that was supposed to upset Austin, proved nothing more than a "breeze." Bob Schneider and Phil Tolomeo scored twice to pace Austtin to a 41-0 rout.

Austin clinched the section title the following Saturday by rolling over a weak Kelvyn Park team 33-0. Jim Baer scooted for two touchdowns.

Tilden, Central champ, was Austin's opponent in the playoffs. Tilden, the favorite, jumped to an early lead 7-0. Then Austin scored in the last quarter: With four minutes remaining to play, the Tigers' end Phil Tolomeo caught a pass in the end zone for a score. Jim Baer was called on to kick the extra point and was successful. Final score, 7-7.

The coin flip was won by Tilden, and the Blue Devils went on to win the title and gave Austin the co-championship of the city.

Co-captains for the successful season were Dick Kreml, center, and Bill Moore, fullback. Kreml was voted the season's most valuable player and with Len Aloy, guard, was named on the all-city team. Dick was further honored by being chosen on the all-state team.

The Tigers will have only three letter-men returning. They are Aloy and Kravitz, guards, and Tarsitano, tackle.

BASKETBALL

The Junior and Senior basketball teams had a successful season of 1944-45. The Seniors won the West Section Championship and the Juniors finished fourth. Both teams went as far as the quarter-finals in the playoffs, the Juniors were defeated by Tuley 29-25, and the Seniors by Von Steuben, 42-35.

Despite the loss of Dave Messro, February graduate, and Wally Hanstad to the Army, Coach Harry Kellar forged right ahead with his comparatively green team to win the Section Championship. Paced by All-City forward Bill Mann, captain of the team, the Seniors hit their peak when they thumped Crane and Wells in the final section games. Roosevelt was the victim of the Tigers in the first play-off game, 37-28. Sherwin Zimmerman and Gus Seavelis are two first stringers who will return for a full season.

The Austin Juniors did one thing to be very proud of—the upset of the season was recorded by the Ponies!

They went into the Lane game a 20 point underdog, but won 38-36. Then came the Tuley game.

Norm Rome, Tom Bondi and Henry Bartelstein, all first stringers are returning for a half season.

Under the fine supervision of Coach George Downes, the Austin tankmen were highly successful in both their fall and spring seasons.

TRACK

The Indoor Track season for 1945 was not the best in Austin's history by far. But the fact that the thinclads boasted some able performers can not be doubted. Leading the Seniors in the dash were Reichel, Green, and Giosa, while Baer and Morrice proved stellar hurdlers. "Scotty" Campbell in the mile, and Mulcahy and Lipsey in the half mile, led the distance runners, while the high jump and broad jump were dominated by Roach and Krom respectively. In the pole vault, Jim Baer captured a second while participating in the city meet. His jump was 10 ft. 8 in.

Starring for the Juniors was "Ollie" Ohlenroth, who heaved the shot 43 ft., 6 in. for a fifth in the city meet. Other "able" juniors were Hanson and Romano in the dash, Birch in the hurdles, and Lazinbat in the 660. "Moose" Orsucci served faithfully as an assistant coach and manager.

In the '44 season the Senior swimmers, led by co-captains George O'Hare and Douglas Rucker, compiled a record of one win and two losses. High spot of the year was the fine showing made by the Seniors in the fall city meet. The medley relay team, George O'Hare, Doug Rucker, and "Big Ed" Pawlan, turned in their best performance of the season, as they finished first. Ed Pawlan also took a third place in the 100 yard breaststroke.

The boys continued this pace in the '45 season. and finished with a record of six wins, one loss, and a tie.

The Junior tankmen enjoyed their best season in many years. They lost only one meet in '43 and '44 while they rang up ten victories. The most important triumph of the year was the well earned victory over the Fenwick Friars, Catholic city champions.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS 1944-1945

The Girls' Athletic Association, commonly known as the G.A.A., has a membership of about 300 girls who are keenly interested in athletic activities. The main purpose of this organization is to promote sportsmanship among the girls.

One of the most important reasons for a girl joining G.A.A. is to earn 1000 points so that she may get her athletic letter. It is possible for her to get a letter as early as the beginning of her junior year.

Miss Hofmeister's special gym class again functioned as the G.A.A. board. Some swell activities were brought about through this group.

The Girls' Athletic Association opened the fall semester with the election of new officers. Grace Peters, president; Doris Koerner, vice-president; Barbara Sturm, secretary; and Barbara Ericson, treasurer.

Splash parties, a swimming meet and tennis tournaments are but a few of the many activities sponsored by this group.

G. A. A.

party was held and about 150 girls enjoyed an afternoon of progressive games topped by refreshments. The gym was really roaring with excitement and entertainment.

The G.A.A. carried on, during the Spring, under the direction of Doris Koerner, president; Lorraine Platt, vice-president, Betty Jones, secretary; Barbara Sturm, treasurer; and Ruth Medendorf, sergeant-at-arms.

The main event the club sponsored in the Spring was a very successful roller skating party. The entire profits, two-hundred dollars, made from this undertaking, were donated to the Vaughan Hospital.

An intra-mural volley ball tournament was another sport that all the girls really enjoyed. This tournament was conducted during long division period and girls from the board were referees.

The G.A.A. closed a most enjoyable year of activities by having its annual picnic at Thatcher Woods. Fun and frolic was enjoyed by over 200 girls.
